"THE BIGGEST EXPECTATIONS ARE THOSE WE IMPOSE ON OURSELVES. THOSE EXPECTATIONS ARE UNPAID, YET FULFILLING FOR THE MIND, BODY, AND SOUL."

Keynote Speaker, Consultant & Team Builder

Doug Sutherland is a grandson, son, brother, father, and a partner in life and love. In addition, Doug has over 25 years of experience working with people seeking to develop their full potential. As a summer camp professional, facilitator, and consultant, Doug has seen much and is open to seeing more in group development and personal achievement.

KEYNOTE: LIVING YOUR MISSION

Mission statements help guide choices and directions in the life of company or organization. Typically, employees buy into the mission and perform in ways to further the future of the company or organization. So, if the mission is something the company or organization can do every day to guide them towards their goals, how about using the same thought process to lead individuals in their own achievement? It's relatively easy to work for the paycheck. However, working for the paycheck and their personal growth and support, will allow for a better life/work balance. Their personal mission statement can even guide them in furthering the mission of your organization.
